

SANDBOARDING ADVENTURES

CLOSE TO AUGRABIES FALLS

Hurling down a sand dune at break-neck speeds on a thin wooden board might not be everyone's idea of a day well spent. However, there are a growing bunch of adrenaline junkies who will gladly spend hours on end hiking up endless sand dunes, and then sliding down on specialized sandboards at incredible speeds. Sandboarding is fast becoming widely accepted as a mainstream sport in South Africa. The Northern Cape's secret dune locations are gorgeous and many are home to the most beautiful and awesome sand dunes, that growing numbers enjoy conquering with their sandboards. Largely similar to snowboarding, sandboarding is the art of standing with two feet locked onto a thin tensile board and sliding down or carving arcs down a dune. After a bit of practice, and most likely a mouthful or two of sand, you'll be gracefully sliding down majestic sand dunes and maybe even jumping a trick or two! Even if you are not an experienced sandboarder, it is very easy and so much fun to learn! Liquid360 Adventures provides personalized sandboarding tours into the heart of the Kakamas and Witsand (Northern Cape) Dunes belt near the Augrabies Falls National Park. We focus on providing a hands-on experience for small groups of extreme sport enthusiasts that want to experience the thrills of stand-up sandboarding. We also cater for the enthusiast that prefers to be seated while experiencing the thrills of piloting a board down the pristine white sand slopes.

There are so many awesome places to enjoy the adventures of sandboarding with the trained and experienced instructors/guides of Liquid360 Adventures.
